$106.2 MILLION

to be distributed to Utah K-12 schools at no cost to taxpayers.

The Utah Trust System provides significant funding to support public schools at no cost to taxpayers.

Utah schools will receive $106 million in distributions from the $3.3 billion Permanent State School Fund for the 2024-2025 school year.

Money is earned from trust lands designated at statehood to support designated beneficiaries, including public schools.

Revenues generated from energy, real estate, and surface resources, along with investment earnings have grown the permanent fund to $3.3 billion today.

RAISE THE CAP

Constitutional Amendment

This November, Utahns will vote on the State School Fund Distribution Cap Increase Amendment that would increase the current cap on distributions from the Permanent State School Fund from 4% to 5%.

- This constitutional amendment aims to create more balanced distributions from the Permanent School Fund for current and future school children.
- Established at statehood, the Permanent School Fund tops $3.3 billion. This perpetual endowment provides funding for critical academic needs identified by each School Community Council.
- If the amendment were in place today, students would have received $15 million beyond the $102 million in LAND Trust distributions they received this school year.
- This amendment is NOT related to a proposed amendment dealing with an earmark on income tax funding for public education.

The Amendment

Both the Utah House and Senate unanimously approved HJR18 Proposal to Amend the Utah Constitution - State School Fund, allowing Utah voters to consider increasing the Permanent School Fund annual distribution cap from 4% to 5%.

Raising the cap costs taxpayers nothing, it simply increases the percentage of LAND Trust distributions schools may receive from the Permanent School Fund.
